Refund Status and Spanish Personal Income Tax Forms Now Available on DOR Website

ATLANTA—The ability to check the status of a personal income tax refund and Spanish versions of Georgia's most used personal income tax forms are now available online at the Georgia Department of Revenue's web site.

The "Where's My Refund" link is on the Department's homepage at www.dor.ga.gov in the 'Other DOR Services' window and the "en español" link to the Spanish translated forms is located on the home page in the 'Individual Taxes' window.

"These two initiatives are part of our continuing effort to provide more taxpayer services online and to make it easier for taxpayers to file their return and obtain information from the Department through the Internet," said Georgia Revenue Commissioner Bart L. Graham.

Taxpayers will have to enter their social security number and the whole dollar amount of the expected refund to obtain the status of their refund. Taxpayer's refund status is also available via telephone. Inside the metro Atlanta calling area, the number is 404-656-6286. Outside the metro calling area within Georgia, the number is 800-338-2389. Outside Georgia, the number is 877-602-8477.

There are 13 fill-in forms and a total of 25 Spanish translated forms available on the website. The fill-in forms allow taxpayers to fill in the required information on a Spanish translated form and then print the form in English. The English version is then ready for filing with the Georgia Department of Revenue.

The Department also has an email link to a Spanish translator to provide increased customer service to Hispanic customers.
